A detailed view of the interior of a white refrigerator. The main compartment features several shelves. The top shelf holds a jar of pickles and a container of liquid. The second shelf has a box of butter, a small dish of cheese, and a container of food. The third shelf contains jars of sauce, containers of yogurt, and a carton of milk. The fourth shelf is filled with fresh produce, including a container of potatoes, a container of meat, a bunch of red radishes, and leafy greens. Below the shelves are two large drawers. The top drawer is filled with various types of lettuce and other greens. The bottom drawer contains a box of mushrooms, a bunch of carrots, and a few apples. The refrigerator door is open to the right, revealing several storage compartments. The top compartment holds jars of jam and a container of herbs. The second compartment contains jars of juice and a container of eggs. The third compartment holds a bunch of parsley and a jar of dressing. The bottom compartment contains two bottles of milk. The door also features a small digital display at the top showing the temperature.
